PREDATOR SOFTWARE ADDS NEW MARKETING MANAGER

Manufacturing software developer anticipates growth in 2000

PORTLAND, ORE – November 17, 1999 – Predator Software Inc. today announced the addition of Tim Justice to head up its marketing department. Justice, who assumes the position of Marketing Communications Manager, comes to Predator after having served as Marketing Manager for Ivy Hi-Lift, an 18-branch provider of construction and industrial equipment based in Eugene, Oregon.

After nearly 10 years in marketing, Justice brings extensive marketing experience to Predator Software, including a strong communications and service marketing skill-set. Prior to Ivy, he worked six years in the high-tech industry holding positions at Extensis Corporation, CAMAX Manufacturing Technologies and Bioject Medical Technologies.

“We’re very excited to have Tim come on board,” said Jim Abbassian, Predator Software President. “We have a number of growth opportunities over the next year and having the right people in place is essential to those opportunities being realized. Tim’s no stranger to our growth demands or our industry, he’ll be a great addition to our core team.”

As Marketing Communications Manager, Justice will oversee Predator’s advertising, literature development, electronic marketing, public relations and event planning.
